

Source: KBHistoryMasterIndex

Annotated doc: srcAnnotatedExr0nMann-Ming trade and silver.pdf

Facts

- China tried to control trade/currency
- A lot of inflation happened
- Money was eventually privatized

Claims

- China “let in the flood” for two factors
 - political
 - originally wanted to control trade (“foreign goods, not foreign people”)
 - but this backfired, so they allowed trade to regain control
 - economic
 - silver coinage because original currency was not trusted
 - “China’s efforts to control piracy were hampered by incompetence at the top level”
 - “By the time the wokou were terrorizing the southeast coast, the Chinese empire had no functioning currency” ## Questions
 - Why didn’t the rulers avoid printing so much money? They must’ve seen inflation coming
-