

1 | Emergent Properties

- An emergent property is a property within a unit that performs a structure when coupled with other units with similar properties. ## Bird Example
- Bird's flying in a V is a great example of what an emergent property is.
 - This is because it demonstrates a multi-level organization system.

Make sure we identify why we are learning things.