Now that you've read some advice columns in Japanese and given some advice, it's time to write some of your own! As it says on the bottom of pg. 287 in "Genki 2," imagine you are one of the following people (i.e., NOT yourself) and write a request for help with a problem. Also, write some advice for that problem.

□□□□□□□□□□: studying abroad student □□□□□□□□□□ : father / mother □□□□□□□□ : japanese teacher □□□□□□□□□□: pet □□□□□□□□□□: celebrity □□□□□□□□□□others–your choice)

These do not have to be real problems—you can create something completely fictional and outlandish if you want, but your advice should be reasonable and practical. Your problem and advice should be about 8-10 sentences total. For examples of both problems and advice, see pg. 286 of "Genki 2." Follow the format on pg. 286 and include a title and some identifying information about the writer (i.e., age, gender, location, first name, etc).
