

It is imperative we don't miss class, but there will be no quizzes or exams. We will be evaluated based upon the homework he collects. He will always collect and look through homework carefully so spend a lot of time on it. Take it seriously and do it meticulously. Contact him if you do not understand something. The other requirement is that you participate in his short in class writing assignments. The final way we're going to be graded is based on class participation.